Hard Ball League Formed

Word was received last week that the East End Ball League is ready to start playing and every spare moment of the four teams in the league will be spent in practicing.

The schedule is drawn up and it is planned to hold three games each week. Chavuin, Ribstone, Edgerton and Wainwright are the teams comprising the league. No doubt these teams will enter the baseball tourney on July 1st, sports day in Wainwright as well as outside competition.

The Star has been given to understand that there is to be some real prize money offered this year for the July 1st program.

A meeting was called on Friday night at the Town Hall for the organization of the Wainwright team which is under the sponsorship of the Wainwright Elks Lodge. Mr. Stan Ryan was chosen as business manager of the team and Mr. Gardiner Boyd was suggested as a likely team manager.

At the time of writing it is not known but it is anticipated that the team will be ready to go out for the season. The manager of a team coach was brought up and after varied discussion it was thought best to leave this matter until a later date, and during this time the town and district was to be scrutinized for a candidate to play this part.

The first practice was held on Sunday afternoon and others were scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m. It was the desire of the meeting that The Star bring to the attention of any would be players that if they wait to try out for the team to see Stan Ryan and report for practice on either of the evenings mentioned.

Word was brought to the meeting that the Elks Lodge would supply needed equipment with the exception of players gloves and shoes.

Wainwright is out to go places this year and from the outside looking in it appears that the team is away to a good start. One thing for sure, with the veterans and the new prospective localities there is going to be plenty of competition and strong teams are in order.

Hotel Cafe Re-opens Under New Management

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pon, well known in business circles in Wainwright for the past number of years, have given up the Wainwright Hotel Cafe and are now residing in Edmonton where Phil plans on opening a new business as soon as the building is completed.

The new owners of the Hotel Cafe are Messrs. Herman and Harry Stromme. Harry has been working in the establishment for some months now learning the names and faces of customers, as well as brushing up on the cafe business after his absence during five years in the army. Harry has had wide experience as a cook and intends to do this job himself in this new business proposition. He was employed in the dining car service of the C.P.R. for a number of years, and was stationed in Wainwright at the army camp as a sergeant cook in the officers mess. During his army career he has travelled extensively, opening messes at numerous new camps.

Herman Stromme, hails from Regina and is a dairyman by profession, having mastered his craft at university. He was, until recently, an assistant manager of a brewery at that point.

The cafe has been closed for the past week and was re-opened on Saturday last all decked out in the new coat of paint.

In the interview with the managers they stated that it was their aim to offer the finest of dining services to the public, and said that they would do their utmost to make their patrons feel at home, with well cooked food.

A Neighborly Act Of Kindness

The neighbors in Gerald district have once again shown their readiness to help anyone in need, by getting together to put in the crop for Harvey and Mrs. Hamilton. Harvey had injured his leg when just starting to work the land. So on Sunday morning neighbors came, bringing their tractors, tillers and seed drills. They reached the farm by seven a.m., or a little later. Soon six tractors were following each other around the field. It was an interesting and thrilling sight to see the land worked and the seed sown so quickly. By six p.m. all the grain land and summer fallow had been tilled, all the wheat and most of the oats seeded, and the weary farmers were wending their way home again.

Those who took turns at the work included Messrs. R. W. Campbell, G. Christopher, M. Dewar, F. Myrland, J. Perkins, D. Rattray Jr., E. Campbell, K. Christopher, C. Dey, W. Greenway, W. Peasary and W. Rattray. The women folk gathered to watch the work being done and took pictures. It was a day when neighborliness and good will abounded and co-operation and unity accomplished much.

Plans for the annual "Farmers Holiday" June 21st are in the process of organization. It will be topped off with a picnic, but more about that later.

ERRATUM: It was erroneously announced last week that the fish and game association were paying a bounty on eggs. This is incorrect. It should have read for crows and magpies feed only. Please note.

Congratulations are in order for those who are experiencing the stock's visit. Old stock sure seems to be visiting these parts frequently. Hope he doesn't stop by our chimney.

WAINWRIGHT, WEDNESDAY MAY 14th, 1947

FAST TIME FOR WAINWRIGHT

The decision of the Town Council at their last meeting to adopt fast or daylight saving time starting May 18th, will be met with varied emotions by both townspeople and our rural residents who deal in Wainwright.

Wainwright primarily is a farming centre and it has been rumored that many farmers are against it. If they are, they might have their own reasons for disliking the change, but throughout the nearby country many farmers are observing fast time to remain standard with the radio stations. Is not each farm a community in itself, therefore, can the farmer not decree his own time to suit himself?

One of the biggest disadvantages of Daylight Saving Time, as it has been handled this year by each municipal corporation, is the fact that there is no change of the transportation companies. The trains and buses will be one hour behind the present time, which at first will tend to add confusion to the hodge-podge, but we are of the opinion that one will become accustomed to this in very short order. The one big advantage of Daylight Saving Time is the one hour of daylight gained in the evenings, which can be used for golf, swimming or gardening. There is bound to be opposition to this action of the town council for it is hard to please every whim, but in our opinion the action taken by the council will meet with the majorities approval.

At the present time there is a petition out for the cancelling of the Fast Time Proclamation, but to date there have been few names signed on the dotted line. If this is any indication it shows that the majority of the residents are in favor of the councils action.

At the present such places as Edmonton, Calgary, Drumheller, Vermilion, Stettler, Red Deer, Ponoka, Innisfail, Banff and many other places are observing the time change and if there were to be any ill effects and adverse conditions surely these places would have observed them and have changed back to standard time by this.

One thing for certain, the present set-up is a disgraceful mess. The least Albertans should be able to expect is a unified time system within the Province, if not the Dominion. By the time another year rolls by the clock confusion should be placed on the steps of the Provincial Government which refused to take the initial step this year, and straighten the matter out. To some degree the hodge-podge is their fault for if they had seen the hand writing on the wall they would have foreseen this mess early in February when the whole question of fast time was being discussed for the city of Edmonton.

As it now stands Wainwright is to have fast time starting Sunday, May 18th, so as a gentle reminder to our readers we urge you to place the clock one hour ahead before retiring Saturday night. Just in case your worried about losing that extra hour of sleep just roll over in the morning and stay in bed one hour longer. That should solve the problem.

The highest goal a woman can reach is to have those who belong in her home, think it is the best place on earth. Anon

WE THINK SO...

Below will be found a clipping of an article that we came across and to our minds it is so correct that we are passing it along at this time. It is entitled "Is Profit Right or Wrong?", and contains a thought or two that is well worth thinking about when some so-called politicians try to divert your attention from the everyday problems of life.

The communists want you to believe that a corporation which makes a profit is doing wrong. If a farmer plants 1 potato and harvests 20, is that wrong? (You—and the communists—wouldn't eat, if he didn't.)

Without modern potato-raising machinery, the farmer would get only 6 or 7 potatoes from his one. That would mean more farm jobs to raise the nation's potato crop—or would it? No—potatoes would be so expensive, few could afford them, and they would provide few jobs.

With modern machinery, the farmer gets 20 for 1, and you and I can afford potatoes. Is that wrong? But some of the 20 have to go to pay for the machinery. Some go to the farmer for his labor. Some go to pay for keeping the machinery in repair. Some go to build up a fund to provide new machinery when the old is worn out. One or two go to the farmer as profit. And if he doesn't get that 1 or 2, he will stop raising potatoes, there will be a shortage and high prices and we all suffer.

It is exactly the same in every factory. Samuel Gompers labor leader, understood that when he said, "The worst crime against working people is a company which fails to operate at a profit." Workmen would be better off if more of the present-day labor leaders studied Gompers and farming, instead of communism and Karl Marx.

PROPER CARE OF PULLETS

PASS

Pullets should normally reach sexual maturity and begin to lay at from five to seven months of age, depending upon the breed, variety, or strain of birds. Their ability to start laying and to continue laying throughout the pullet year is largely dependent upon the growth, development and vigour of the flock at this stage, says W. W. Oram, Dominion Experimental Farm, Indian Head, Sask.

A considerable number of potential hatchery eggs the growing birds between the baby chick and laying stages. Any of these may be sufficient to cause death or at least result in reduced thrift with slower growth and development.

Many chicks receive their first setback from digestive disturbances caused by overeating or chilling owing to faulty adjustment or operation of the brooder stove or because of a poorly constructed brooder house. A little extra foresight and care will usually overcome these troubles.

Overcrowding at any age has a serious effect upon the health and thrift of growing chicks. A 10 x 12 foot brooder house will accommodate 250 to 300 baby chicks, but extra space becomes increasingly necessary until at six months of age pullets require about four square feet of floor space per bird. Separate pens at an early age, provision of roosts at the three to four week stage and extra space as necessary, will help prevent the evils of overcrowding.

Damp, unsanitary conditions favor the development of disease and parasites. Frequent changes of litter and thorough cleaning of houses and equipment are necessary for the maintenance of health and thrift in the flock.

Situating of quality or quantity of feed is poor economy and will have an unfavourable effect on growth, development and thrift. All foods should be self-fed from hoppers or troughs constructed to prevent waste and contamination. Grit and oyster shell of suitable size should also be supplied to chicks of all ages in self-feeders. Plenty of clean pure water is as important as food.

Clean ranges, not used by poultry the previous year, and an abundance of good pasture with suitable shade and shelter are very important in the life of young growing stock.

BEST TIME TO CUT

NATIVE HAYS

Fully half the fresh value of native hays is commonly lost through late cutting and exposure to the weather. Since great quantities of native hay are produced in Canada, this loss of feed is a serious one, says E. W. Tisdale, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask.

At present the feeding value of much native hay is extremely low, often no better than that of straw. The poor quality is due mainly to the common practice of cutting too late in the season. Additional harm may be done by exposure to the weather before stacking or baling, but this is often unavoidable. Similarly, late cutting may be necessary in low-lying areas which do not dry out till late in the season.

The feeding value of native hay plants, like that of other legumes, changes considerably during the season. The early leaf growth is a rich feed, high in protein and other nutrients, and highly digestible. The quality of the forage declines from this high point as the plants mature. The yield, of course, increases rapidly during the early part of the season, but there is little or no increase after the plants come into head.

The best time for cutting is that which gives satisfactory yields along with good feed value. The best time to cut is early, when the plants come into head.

Numerous tests have shown the decline in feeding value that is caused by late cutting. In one set of low-land hay plants, the protein content dropped from 17 per cent in the leaf stage to 10 per cent in head and only 5 per cent in the seed stage. The dates of cutting for these stages were June 10th, July 10th and August 8th. Upland native hays, while generally yielding less than lowland hays, are usually considered to be better feed. This is true in most cases, although the quality of lowland hay cut at the proper time is better than is generally recognized. On the other hand, the quality of upland hay drops greatly as the plants mature, and particularly when they begin to dry and cure. Upland hay, cut late, is usually low in feeding value.

Lowland wild hay often contains a high proportion of sedges and fine rushes, as well as true grasses. The feeding value of the sedges and related plants is usually considered to be low, but this is true only when they are cut late. Cut at the right time they compare favourably with most lowland grasses in quality. Samples of native hay, consisting mainly of sedges, were found to have a protein content of 12 per cent when cut in the heading stage, early in July. Hay cut from the same meadows late in September, was much poorer, with only 5 per cent protein and deficient in phosphorus.

Most native hay plants are capable of producing feed of high to good quality, if cut at the proper time and handled carefully. Delay in cutting after the plants have headed results in serious losses in feeding value without any worthwhile increase in yield.

Dragnet Extended For E. B. Bottles

Possess organisms for search in Alberta rural centres.

The dragnet for E. B. Bottles, also "Empties", widened today as search extends to Alberta's many towns and villages.

E. B. Bottles, commonly known as Empty Beer Bottles, became the subject of this intensive hunt following misapprehensions from a recent story in the leading and leading industry. Citizens are co-operating in all-out effort to see that this culprit is brought to justice and returned to work so that the demand for Brewery products can be met.

It is believed that "Empties" may be lying low in basements, closets, attics, garages or other places about the home, and for this reason, the co-operation of housewives in making the search is particularly requested.

CASH REWARD OFFERED

Housewives in cities, towns, and villages are urged to search their premises throughout. In the event of apprehension, Dalvies Limited should be notified at once. They have arranged to take "Empties" into custody—pay 20 cents per dozen cash reward on the spot and provide escort to the nearest bottle depot.

Rural citizens who may come across "Empties" can have them escorted, freight collect to the nearest Dalvies Limited depot and cash reward will be mailed immediately he is in custody. Depots are located at Camrose, Banff, Calgary, Edmonton, Blairmore, Medicine Hat, Drumheller and Lethbridge. McLennan is nearest depot for Peace River District.

Eddie started his job today!

THE MANAGER of the furniture factory in Eddie's town lashed a big order. It meant he had to buy a lot of extra lumber, increase his payroll. He lost no time in putting the whole thing up to the manager of his local bank. Together they worked out how much money he would need to take care of wages and other costs until he delivered the goods. Then, with the backing of his bank, he got to work on the order.

... And that's where Eddie came in. He was put on the payroll—given his first chance to learn a trade. Right now he's on his way home to tell Mom and Dad how much he likes his new job.

COOKING UNDER PRESSURE

This title could mean that the person looking after the cooking of the food has to do it under great difficulty or is hard pressed for time. But, in this case the meaning is the exact opposite. By cooking the modern way, which is in a pressure saucepan, more and more housewives find they have extra time to themselves, besides discovering that many foods, especially vegetables, have a better colour and flavour with less time spent on them.

Cooking under pressure has been practised for many years by housewives throughout Canada. They have been able, in the coming season to appreciate the advantages of this method, and, since the principle involved is the same in the new smaller pressure saucepans, they are ready, willing and able to use them.

Time is a factor of great importance to every housewife since there never seems to be enough hours in a day to accomplish all the tasks that fall on her shoulders. So, if this new method of cooking did nothing but shorten her time spent over the stove in the kitchen, it would then and here become a favourite. Since it also produces foods with good flavour and colour, it pleases the whole family and does something towards keeping mother less tired and in good humour.

There are several makes of pressure saucepans on the Canadian market. The manufacturer of each make supplies a recipe book with complete directions which should always be closely followed. These suggested recipes should be used until the saucepan and methods are familiar. When one has thorough knowledge of the mechanics of the saucepan, then and only then personal recipes may be tried.

The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, after testing recipes suggested by the manufacturers have adapted the following recipes from their own files.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

3 lbs. spareribs
1 1/2 tablespoons fat
2 cups canned tomatoes
Salt and pepper
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
Dash of cloves
1/4 teaspoon paprika
Dash of celery salt or 1 tsp. finely chopped celery
3 tablespoons chopped onion
2 small carrots thinly sliced
1 teaspoon H.P. or Worcestershire sauce

Cut spareribs into servings. Melt fat in pressure saucepan and brown meat thoroughly on all sides. Add tomatoes, seasonings and vegetables. Follow directions given by manufacturer and cook 15 minutes. Thicken gravy if desired. Pour to six servings.

WARM WEATHER TIPS

"Don't demand too much of your body. Take it easy. Don't eat too many heat-producing foods, and your liquid intake should be increased, too." This is advice for Canadians at this season of the year.

Medical authorities point out that when warm weather is on the way, special steps should be taken to conserve health.

FILL OUT THOSE SURVEY CARDS

The very desirable aim of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations is to improve the distribution of food among the peoples of the world. The success of this tremendous task will have far-reaching consequences for Canadian farmers. There have always been people of the world without the necessary food to maintain life, and many more with less than enough food to maintain themselves efficiently. On the other hand there have been many countries with surplus food-stuffs for which markets could not be found. This undesirable situation should not exist. Agricultural Organization should do much to eliminate such surpluses and much toward the elimination of starvation conditions in other countries. The Canadian farmer will thereby be assured of a larger market for his produce and the starving peoples of the world will obtain food.

One of the first requirements of the Food and Agriculture Organization in accomplishing its task will be complete and accurate information regarding the world's supply of foodstuffs, now and in the future. Canada, as one of the major surplus food-producing countries, must provide the facts about Canadian agricultural production. In order to secure these facts the Agricultural Division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is now distributing the annual June Survey cards by which it obtains information on agricultural producing units throughout Canada. I strongly urge you to co-operate with the bureau in completing and returning the cards as requested. Some farmers hesitate to give information to the Bureau of Statistics on the operation of their own farms, because they fear that the information as provided will be used against them for taxation purposes. There is absolutely no reason for such fear, and the information given by farmers to the Bureau of Statistics has no connection whatsoever with taxation. The farmer is protected by law against the misuse of his returns, and his individual return is seen only by workers in the Dominion and Provincial agricultural statistics offices. The statistical offices give out to the public and other government offices only estimates of total and heavy penalties are provided by law against the release of the individual returns of farmers.

SPRING MANAGEMENT OF BEES

A surplus of food must be in the hive at all times. When the stores of food run low the Queen stops laying eggs. When the Queen stops laying the bees may kill her or start queen cells to replace her.

If there is no natural honey flow the colony should be fed sugar syrup.

The hive should not be opened or disturbed, especially when there is no honey coming in. The proper procedure would be, having put the bees and queen in the hive, to leave them alone for a week then only open up long enough to make sure that there was brood being produced in the hive.

BEDROOM LIGHTING

Those soft overhead lights in the bedroom—whatever the "males" may think of them—have the approval of medical science. However, health authorities at Ottawa advise that such lighting be supplemented by properly-shaded lights on both sides of the mirror.

For reading in bed, a pin-up lamp is also quite O.K., as long as the light is adequate in quantity and quality, and if normal posture is maintained while reading in bed (with the book held for comfortable seeing).

LOCAL ORCHESTRA'S DANCE AIDS CANCER FUND

Friday night in the Separate School Auditorium saw a goodly number of dancing enthusiasts in real form attending the dance sponsored by Wainwright's local orchestra "The Swingsters".

The orchestra, comprised of Mrs. K. MacDonald (piano), Messrs. L. McLeod (sax), J. Robinson (trumpet), P. Buckton (violin) and R. Wilbrham (drums), thought up the idea of staging a dance to aid the Cancer Fund whose drive for funds closes this week-end. They donated their services for the evening, playing until the wee small hours in the morning.

Members of the O.O.R.P. catered the lunch which was charged for as extra, and they plan to donate this money to the Cancer Fund.

After the evening's entertainment was over, and expenses paid, the orchestra turned over to the Fund a sum of $40.00 which will boost Wainwright's donations by quite a bit. The dancing concluded with "The King".

this past week.

parate School and Grade seven and eight a local minor league.

The major league is as follows:

May 23—Edgerton at Irma
May 25—W.H.S. vs Chauvin at Wain.
May 28—Irma vs Chauvin at Edgerton
May 30 W.H.S. at Wain.

A win counts 2 points and all games are seven innings.

The first games of the major league were played May 7, between Irma and W.H.S. at Irma, Irma winning and Edgerton and Chauvin at Edgerton, Edgerton winning. Irma won the game between Irma and Edgerton. May 9th and Wainwright the game between Chauvin and W.H.S. the same date.

The W.H.S. played the Dormitory
May 6, for a warm up game for the Dorm. W.H.S. came out on top.

played May 7 between grade seven and eight and the Dorm. The Dorm won 26-10. The second game was played May 9 between the Separate School and the Dorm. The Dorm winning 24-20.

The W.H.S. boys have formed two baseball teams. The high school one
